INTRO

While it is forbidden by international law, to fight a war in the uniform of the enemy or to attack a country under the flag of the Red Cross, this kind of deception has become "common place" for powerful elite in politics, economy and science. Like this the breakthrough of electric automobiles is repressed in an environmentalist's uniform. In the name of freedom and democracy, wars are initiated and under the flag of the increase of wealth the banks deprive economy and citizens of their money and possessions. The spin-doctors often make use of "diversionary tactic" as well: unimportant nonsense fills the headlines; dramatic incidents concerning world peace are barely worth a marginal note. Several current examples are found in this issue of V&C.

Are electric cars really desired?

ga. Press and politics give the impression that the launch of electric vehicles is being pushed through emphatically. But here doubts and questions are appropriate.

California released a new law in 1990 that obligated automobile companies to produce cars that are free of emission to a certain extent. Already in 1996 there were fast, quiet electric cars without exhaust that had a range of 130 kilometers. Statistics say this would have been enough to cover the daily trips of 90% of the population. The vehicles were rechargeable overnight, they cost about the same amount as fuel powered cars and there was enough demand, too.

But the big Oil corporations lashed out at California's progress together with the US government and the automobile companies and the law was annulled on April 24th, 2003.

The vehicles were taken out of traffic, and the progress of technology was buried. Although other governments do not attack electric vehicles so vigorously, one has to question, why the development is so slow in this area of technology. Could it be that not only the US-Government has a stronger interest in keeping consumers dependent on oil than in environmentally friendly technology?

"People think they are doing something for alternative energy or the environment. But, it's a joke. The discussions today are the same as back in the seventies. It's like with dog races, where the dogs chase after a mechanical rabbit but never catch it."

NATO murders eight innocent women ss. Original article from the "20min" (a Swiss newspaper) on the 19th of September 2012: "During a NATO air raid in Afghanistan, up to eight women were killed. A local authority said the women had been looking for firewood at dawn when they were attacked."

The news of the cruel murdering of innocent civilians in foreign countries by the NATO seems to be barely worth noting, according to our media.

That is the only explanation for this scandal appearing only as a miniscule marginal note on page 13, in the biggest free Swiss newspaper, while the star allure of a rock musician made it on to the front-page. Who is actually dictating what is worth reporting and what is not?

Monsanto infiltrates the USA

ub. Monsanto Chemical Corporation is flooding the world with genetically manipulated seed and seems to have international politics in its grip. The U.S. government is downright infiltrated by Monsanto. It was discovered that U.S. diplomats work for the chemical corporation.

Monsanto Corporation is taking part very intensively in the legalization and setting up of guidelines for genetically manipulated organisms (GMO) and has influence on important key-positions in the Government. For countries defending themselves against the spread of GMO, the French U.S.-ambassador even called for "retaliatory measures" in a mail published in WikiLeaks. Is it surprising that with such influence on politics, the larger portion of U.S.A. food-staples are already genetically altered? There is little doubt that in Europe the situation is similar.

The true “axis of evil”

bm. Ten years ago the former American president, George W. Bush spoke to the American people warning them about three countries: Iraq, Iran and North Korea (later Cuba, Libya and Syria were added to the list). As the “axis of evil” these countries were ruled by dictators, exporting terrorism and producing nuclear weapons. The U.S.A. and its allies “felt forced” to isolate and demonize these countries – even to the point of military invasions, like in Iraq and Libya. They supported a “change of regimes”, in order to put leaders at the top who would submit to the political and economical dictates of Washington and of global capital. So the door was opened for the oil corporations to begin radical exploitation of mineral oil reserves in Iraq and Libya. After Gadaffi’s murder, by order of the U.S. government, the way was paved to spread terror and attacks on Syria. This is not about a “humanitarian” war, but it is about the control over the great mineral-oil and natural-gas deposits in that country, and more than that, to get rid of another possible ally of Iran. Do you recognize the true axis of evil?

Hungary ends “friendship” with IMF me. The relationship between Hungary’s Prime-Minister Viktor Orbán and the IMF (International Monetary Fund) has been strained for a long time already. This moved Orbán to now officially end the “friend-ship” with the institution and to reject their hard provisions for granting credit as unacceptable. In a video-message – on the government’s Facebook profile – Orbán announced that Hungary is neither going to cut the pensions, nor abolish the bank taxes, nor dismiss officials, nor fulfil any other conditions for a credit of 15 billion Euros from the IMF. “This list only contains things that are not in our interest and not beneficial for Hungary”, said Orbán, and declared the conditions a “list of terror”. In order to steer against this, he wants to set up a 1 billion Euro plan to save jobs. When will our politicians also finally act in the interest of their people?

Peculiar Qualifications in World Climate Council

he. According to a report by the Canadian journalist Donna Laframboise, the qualifications of the scientists on the World Climate Council 2007 are exceedingly questionable. Eco activists are found in leading positions, systematically disregarding the most elementary rules of scientific research, as well as persons barely able to show any scientific accomplishments at all. Some council members have not yet even finished their university studies. Could it be that the possibility to specifically influence the research results is more important than the scientific qualification of the staff?

Always the same pattern – how long still?

hm. The cruel crimes of the American secret service CIA are increasingly being made public. More and more agents have the courage to quit, and to openly reveal their secret missions. According to their reports these missions always have the same pattern, and have had it for decades already. Entire nations are plunged into chaos, deliberately: In countries with U.S.-critical governments, a citizen’s revolt is staged and initiated by CIA agents, using the worst methods. The victims are commonly completely unaware and defenseless civil population, being attacked in the cruelest manner. The government’s resulting acts of defense are then falsely illustrated, titled and are pilloried by the media reports. On the other hand the rebels are celebrated as liberators of the people. The current events of the “Arabic uprisings” as well as other revolts appear in a totally different light, from this point of view. How long will the world still be so clearly fooled?

Basel III – still more bondage of the middle class?

uw. In an especially rushed lawmaking procedure, on the 22nd of August 2012 the German government passed the Basel Policy III. What seems at first glance to be a security for the equity-capital of the credit institutes – or protection against further bank collapse, is unmasked by a closer look. Through severer regulations of capital and liquidity it will become increasingly difficult to take out a loan. Especially the middle class is hit hard here. For anyone self-employed it is practically impossible to fulfill these severe regulation requirements. Only by mortgaging real goods like property, real estate etc, will it be possible to get a loan. The policy is shown up as another grab at citizen’s real property, by creating new credit regulation. Moreover this instrument thwarts any further investment in the real economy. So especially the start up developments will suffer and new technologies can hardly be financed. It will be nearly impossible to obtain venture capital. Many good ideas will be left in the desk drawer. Huge corporations will become still bigger and small companies will die out.

Closing Point •
“If you know the enemy and know yourself, you need not fear the result of a hundred battles. If you know yourself but not the enemy, for every victory gained you will also suffer a defeat. If you know neither the enemy nor yourself, you will succumb in every battle.”

Sun Tzu (Chinese military strategist and philosopher, ca. 500 BC.)

Put differently:
V&C sheds light on the enemy and as couriers we know ourselves. But, the moral of the story is: join in, help take the victory!
