INTRO

We're at a point in world history when all the nations on the entire globe face a shared destiny: destruction or slavery. And it does not do any good denying it; but it could be very beneficial, meaning life-saving, to step into the battle as a son of Light, wholeheartedly and with all your strength. This is the only way that we will break through the black wall that is heading towards us, with focused light power, making it fall.

The FSA - friend or foe?

me. While the western media reports of the supposed atrocities that Assad is guilty of against his own people, the Internet is full of an increasing number of videos (reality facts recorded live) of the real atrocities of the Free Syrian Army (FSA). In these live recordings you can see 'freedom fighters' abusing civilians in the most bestial way, then literally start butchering them. But who amongst us let themselves be confronted with the 'other truth' and can identify themselves with the victims, when it is much more comfortable to trust the self-elected experts on TV? No one likes to see living people chopped to pieces, murdered with torturing knife stabs, stoned and being shot in public places. No one likes to watch a child being forced to decapitate another person. But all of these are facts of everyday life in Syria. The Syrian army is an army of the people with the people's best interests at heart, while the so-called freedom-fighters spread terror, fear and horror. We cannot afford to look away any longer and we owe it to the Syrian people to take action, because German 'Patriot' missiles have already been deployed to Syria's borders. Please confront yourself with this topic, as well as inform people around you and write V&C articles so that the world can find out the truth about Syria, the powder keg.

The "tyrant" Bashar al-Assad

rh. Ten years ago the 'tyrant' Bashar al-Assad installed democracy in Syria and let many political prisoners go free. Also, he protects all religious and ethnical minorities so that, for instance, Kurdish children can take lessons in their mother tongue (something unthinkable in Turkey), Jews enjoy all the freedom, whilst before Assad came to power, they were only allowed to live in certain parts of the towns, many Christians have roles in the government, etc. Assad walked the streets without a bodyguard and drove his vehicle himself. The Syrian army is an army of the people which, when the first unrests broke out, went out unarmed. Only when many government soldiers were killed did they arm themselves. Is it surprising that the majority of the people love Assad and take to the streets for him? If only we had such 'tyrants' in Europe!

Testimony of a Syrian living in Germany who often visits Syria and knows Assad personally

The two worlds of reporting

vm. After the speech of Syria's president Bashar al-Assad, a volley of criticism came from almost every single western media station. Erika Solomon and Peter Graff from Reuters Germany wrote: "The Syrian president shows no sign of compromise as rebels keep winning victory after victory. ... New suggestions for solving the conflict are missing and the situation is left hanging." The New York Times title reads: "Defiant speech by Assad is a new blockade to the peace treaty in Syria." The objective and sound news reporting by Karin Leukefeld concerning this crucial topic for the "Junge Welt" looks quite different: "The continuing conflicts are not a war between the opposition and the government, but a war of the nation against murderers and criminals", Assad said. (...) In order to settle the conflict Assad made a number of suggestions. One should summon everyone 'who has not betrayed Syria' to a reconciliation conference as well as a constituent assembly. Based on that, the supposed re-elections could take place and a new government be formed. Assad also announced amnesty for all prisoners of war and civilians captured during the conflicts. Nevertheless, the necessary measures for any political solutions would be, quoting Assad, "to stop the financing as well as giving armament to the rebels." "All acts of terrorism have to stop immediately and the borders have to be controlled again," Assad charged. The unilateral view of the news reports and the twisting of such highly controversial information by 'mainstream' media can only be called criminal propaganda, considering the escalating situation of the conflict in Syria.

Halfhearted UN-resolution

clm. On the 5th of November 2012, the first committee of the UN-General Assembly passed a resolution demanding better security measures for the use of uranium ammunition. An important stress has been laid upon the issues of carrying out janitorial and decontamination measures, as well as improving the way in which the civilians are protected against radiation, also it is imperative to invest more time in well documented research studies regarding contaminated areas. However, the resolution has met bitter resistance from the three powers that are directly involved in operating with uranium ammunition, a fact which they openly admit to: France, the UK and the USA. As usual, Israel joined these nations by refusing the UN radiation resolution, and thus being a fourth opponent. What makes these nations act in this way, being fully aware of the devastating impact of the use of uranium ammunition, to refuse a mere imposition of safety measures concerning radiation, when clearly a ban would be absolutely stringent?

Syrian diary: retrospect on seven months of reporting

dec. The Russian TV station Rossija-24 published a 43-minute long retrospect on the seven months of reporting, in which the team of Anastasia Popova (special correspondent) was in Syria. The film is dedicated to the victims of the terror in Syria. Together Anastasia Popova and her team filmed countless carcasses, on the streets as well as in the hospitals. In one of the hospitals a pathologist said that without exception everyone who was in captivity of the rebels was mistreated. The film shows many cruelties of the rebel band: public executions of civilians, execution of children and other horrible things! The rebel fighters destroy everything, film it and then claim that the Syrian army did it. The whole world should believe that the Syrian army does such things. They call themselves "fighters for freedom" of the free Syrian army and kill children! Just how is it possible that the entire western media hardly mentions this and stands behind the horrible slaughtering by the rebels? Whoever wants to put the film off under the label "propaganda" should watch it first and form an own opinion (not for children and weak nerves!). Who can still stay apathetic in view of such horrible facts and unrighteousness, without shouting them out?

Human killing machines with drug use

me. The 27 year old former rebel, Youssef Naami, speaks in an interview with 'Russia Today' of his activities in the FSA (Free Syrian Army) near Hama. Hired by Sheikh Ayman Al-Khalid, he was paid to fight for 'the salvation of the fatherland.' Under the influence of strong drugs, which all rebels received on a regular basis, he was capable of raping a woman and taking part as a witness in several brutal murders. Naami stated: 'When we were in operation we received different pills - they told us - to calm the nerves, for courage and so that we would not be afraid. And it was true: swallow - and you were ready to go and shoot the entire world. Now you want to forget.' One day he was contacted by the union of the Syrian youth which offered him a way out of the net of rebels. 'I started to think about what I was being told. (...) the president had said that everyone who did not kill and had not performed any acts of terror and is feeling remorse along with giving up their weapons will be pardoned. We gave up our weapons and within 24 hours our names were crossed off the search lists. Today I feel reborn. I'm going to drug therapy', says Youssef Naami.

The terrorists controlled by money and drugs are acknowledged as the opposition by our western media, and they are to be used to rebuild the country - Syria - which they themselves previously destroyed. Help us to stop this madness!

German federal parliament agrees to send troops to Middle East uw. Turkey is supporting the installment of NATO troops on their border to Syria. According to official communications sources, the Syrian army has been continuously shooting into Turkey. However, what is hardly mentioned are the many provocations of the Turkish troops against Syria. They have done everything from shooting to trafficking illegal weapons. The NATO convention in Brussels already agreed to a military alliance against Syria several weeks ago. Now the German Federal Parliament voted, with an overwhelming majority, to dispatch 350 soldiers with the newest model of the Patriot anti-missile system in Turkey near the border with Syria. According to experts, this system is only suitable for intercepting airplanes or missiles, but not for stopping the feared Syrian artillery which may have been directed accidentally towards Turkish ground. It is totally obvious that other interests and powers are playing a role in this conflict. In view of these events, the beginning of a Third World War in which Germany is involved has suddenly become plausible and threateningly close to happen.
