INTRO

When we try to characterize the daily business of the media in just a few words, we are unable to avoid using words like "devious", "deceptive" or as US President Thomas Jefferson once put it: "dirty". Simone de Beauvoir said that the most devious lie is: "that which is omitted". Regardless of what the mainstream media report, they lie arbitrarily, shaping the content entirely according to their own interests. Reporting about the mass-protest in France against homosexual marriage and adoptions, they shamelessly play down the number demonstrating from 800,000 to some 10,000. When reporting about the AZK (Anti-censorship conference) lecture by Sylvia Stolz, they simply create, in "free-style" a criminal sounding partnership although she has lived alone for many years, consciously choosing to be single etc. As long as the media are considered credible, the people will be damaged. Help to expose this media deception - with strong, irrevocable evidence!

Rothschild's 200 Million Dollar Bet is. The news channel CNBC recently noted Lord Jacob Rothschild's recent 200 million dollar bet. He is betting on the downfall of the crippled Euro. Yet people like Rothschild used to make the point that you must imitate the "great" if you want to invest your money safely. How smart that sounds. And since the French Revolution, we idiots have fallen for that age-old casino trick! Back then in 1815, panic spread among money handlers because Nathan Mayer Rothschild suddenly unloaded his stock on the market. Everyone figured that the British must have lost the battle of Waterloo. Otherwise the "great" would never have suddenly unloaded their stocks! Over-night there were panic sales throughout the whole country. What the "smart imitators" did not know was that Rothschild had abused his post service monopoly. Twenty four hours before the government even knew about it, his own personal Rothschild courier, Rothworth, reported to him of the British victory over Napoleon. Yet he neither let the government nor the people know of this. Only after he had bought up untold quantities of stocks for practically a song, did the news of Britain's victory over France seep through to the public. This made the value of his stocks skyrocket. Now Nathan Mayer Rothschild could sell for a profit of 20:1. Ah, so that's how it works! In just 17 years, he was able to multiply his start-up capital 2,500 times! And the "great" constantly do the same! They also own most of the media corporations! One thing we should know about their "bets". They may let their imitators win occasionally - but only as a casino owner does his clientele; in the end, it is always one and the same winner!

Is Iran developing an atomic bomb?

Statement by Dr. Alireza Salari (Iranian Ambassador to Switzerland) concerning this question:

"The only country in the region that even has nuclear arms and has shown signs of expansionism* to use such is not the Islamic Republic of Iran, but the formation that calls itself Israel. Iran neither needs, nor owns, nor plans on owning nuclear arms.

[...] So there is no necessity for atomic warheads, neither for deterrence nor for a war victory in this day and age. What is more important for Iran now is democracy and development! And with democracy I mean that the people support the country and not nuclear arms! And the peace and freedom and independence that the people feel and the development of the country, that is what the government supports. So rest assured, Iran does not intend to own nuclear arms and also has no need of them. And for 30 years we have heard that Iran will be ready to build atomic bombs in one or two years. And every wise person should ask themselves, especially after 30 years: Are one or two years not over yet? — And so you will understand, these are nothing but lies!"

Israel's minister of foreign affairs

Avigdor Lieberman is a most pompous specimen. Some examples: He demands the death sentence for Arab members of parliament who speak with "enemies". He threatens to "level and remove the Gaza strip from the face of the earth" and to go against Iran "without compromise". He wants to send released Palestinian prisoners to a place "from which they will never return" or simply "sink them in the ocean". His political party "Israel Beteinu" (Israel is our home) demands an oath of loyalty from everyone desiring to become a citizen. In the government, this party occupies five ministry offices. According to Israeli newspapers, he seems to have pocketed

Who is paying for Europe’s new problem child?

sbh. In the summer of 2013 Croatia is to join the European Union. We know already the burden the EU is shouldering. For four years the nation of Croatia has not recorded any economic growth. Its creditworthiness was recently lowered to the absolute lowest level and the budget plan presented for 2013 includes an increase in deficit. Why should the highly indebted EU take in another problem child? There is a suspicion that Brussels’s EU power elite takes on the debt of these states in order to provoke the bankruptcy of other functioning states. Viviane Reding, the EU minister of justice, made it very clear in her recent interview that she expects a payment of millions from independent Switzerland for Croatia. Her reasoning: “When one is part of an ensemble, one cannot just pick out the raisins.” For comparison: this is as if nearly bankrupt “company X” were planning to buy out the highly indebted and competitively incapable “Company Y” and demanded in advance that the independent “Company Z” support this with huge sums. Economically, nobody, even in his imagination would ever consider doing such a thing, yet the EU forces this criminal injustice through as a matter of course.

Chemical weapons against Syria

hk. Rebels, who fight against the Syrian government, used chemical weapons against the Syrian army in Damascus. A Syrian presidential guard told, that at least seven Syrian soldiers were killed, after they were attacked with chemical weapons. The rebels are citizens of other countries (mercenaries or criminals), who also threatened to poison Syrian drinking water. In view of these things happening, the “accusations” of the USA and their accomplices, that “Syria is planning the use of chemical weapons”, should be examined more carefully. The mosaic of the so-called Arab spring gives a clear picture of the ugly face of power hungry America, staged with the help of rebels, who are nothing more than paid and incited mercenaries.

Home schooling forbidden!

pi. Home schooling is education and learning without school. As educational pressure grows in the schools, an increasing number of parents are ready to give their kids home-lessons themselves or provide this to them. This was evident at the first international “Conference for school-free learning” (GHEC 2012) in November 2012 in Berlin. However, the mainstream-media did not report anything about it.

In Germany home schooling is submitted to serious penalties by a compulsory school attendance law. Home education promotes the maturity of the students a lot more than conventional schooling. Why then are fines and prison sentences imposed more and more frequently, against parents who choose to teach their children at home – even for short periods? Could it be that these penalties are given because these students grow up to be mature citizens, and that “this sort of person” is not appreciated by our State?!

CO2 lie and Internet censorship

mh. The Canadian environmental journalist Lawrence Solomon researched the climate studies of climate liar William Michael Connolley. He discovered that not only had Connolley systematically manipulated and falsified climate research data, but that he had also crept into the position of editor for the online encyclopedia, Wikipedia. In this position, Connolley not only falsified 5000 articles, but also erased 500 more which did not express his opinion. On top of this he removed the authorship rights of 2000 Wikipedia authors, who had written articles against his climate and CO2 lies! Connolley’s behavior is a brilliant example of a propagandist liar, and of the extreme tactics of deceptive censorship through the globalist mafia.

Closing Point •
Whoever fights for justice and uncensored counter voices, is also sometimes attacked by the law. Currently attorney Daniel Kettiger is bringing charges against Sylvia Stolz and Ivo Sasek. In my case because I let Sylvia Stolz talk about “speaking prohibited, proofs prohibited, defence prohibited” at the eighth AZK (Anti-censorship conference). Here we experience, close to home, the reality of “freedom of opinion and speech”. In case no lawyers from our readership volunteer for defending my case, I will appear before court without human advocate. What I would appreciate most, would be an absolutely determined lawyer, who defies these accusers successfully. Are there any helpers of this kind ready, somewhere? If there are - please contact the editor.
Thanks a lot!
Ivo Sasek
