INTRO

"Lies have short legs"

This old saying proves once more to be true and is easily seen in the articles shown in this edition of V&C about the early sexualisation of our kids. Statements by officials that have been passed on to us during the past years have become unmasked as being lies!

1. The main aim of mandatory sexual lessons is only for the children's enlightenment. All the warnings of concerned parents that their children could be driven to act out untimely sexual behaviors have been treated as exaggerated and as conspiracy theories of some religious fundamentalists and fanatics.

2. The final authority of education stays entirely with the parents. Sexual education has only been introduced to help and to support the parents, in case they feel overwhelmed and inadequate with the subject.

3. All attempts of the early sexualisation program by no means originate from pedophile circles. It is for the well-being of our children, since they have to find their own way to cope with our sexualized world.

As shattering as the following articles are, they will strengthen us simultaneously with courage and power, for it is becoming obvious, that the truth cannot be concealed in the long run.

Sex education programs: A product of the pedophile lobby?

dec. The programs for increased sexualization that were approved by the left-wing government of Croatia are very similar to other legislation that has been enacted in various countries. That they have all been developed by known paedophiles<sup>1</sup>, is the claim of former university professor Dr. Judith Reisman. She shows that the Croatian professor Štulhofer, who authored the country's new sexual education programmes, had employed not just German sex researcher Günther Schmidt, but other self confessed pedophiles as well. Štulhofer has written a book with the Dutch pedophile Theo Sandfort<sup>2</sup>. Together with their two colleagues, the American Vern Bullough and the German Erwin J. Haeberle, they were part of the organizing committee of an international conference of sex researchers financed by the Soros Foundation. Erwin J. Haeberle was a member of the "Institute for Advanced Study of Human Sexuality", the organisation responsible for most of the legislation advocating sex education programs in various countries. Timothy Tate, British journalist and producer of a documentary about Kinsey, talked of the Croatian government as having put the Nation's children at the mercy of "a group of pedophiles", like other governments have done before them. In summary, these so called programs of sexual education have nothing whatsoever to do with progress or any supposed "sexual liberation". Rather, they are used by a minority to legitimize pedophilia and other sexual personality disorders and make them socially acceptable. Children are being forced into a world of sexuality to make them available to the sick desires of certain adults. Who still approves of this?!

<sup>1</sup> Based on the controversial theories of the sex research pioneer Alfred C. Kinsey. He has been attacked for his methods of studying the ability of more than 300 children between the ages of five months and 14 years to have an orgasm. His "research" was paid for by the Rockefeller Foundation.

Alarming "games" in the classroom

da. One day I took my seven-year-old son from primary school a little bit earlier than normal because we had an appointment at the doctor's. When I entered the classroom I saw that all the children were sitting in a circle on the floor in the darkened room. Later on my son told me that they had played a game called "Show us parts of your body". That means, he explained to me, you have to put that part of your body in the middle of the circle, which is named by the teacher - including your bottom and your genitals. Now my alarm bells were ringing! I contacted some other parents to collectively go against this. We met the school's director with the aim of insisting on stopping the early sexualization of our children. But he reacted quite aggressively. He implied that I had accused the school - and especially the teacher teaching the sexual education - of sexual abuse of the children. They even accused me of having reported them to the authorities - which in fact I never did.

So they felt constrained to sue me for libel. It will be very interesting which witnesses and what proofs they will use to justify their report, for I never said anything like this.

I am just ONE of a few mothers who fought against this sort of sexual education. But it needs many more courageous people all over the country who will stand up and cry out loud: Stop this early-sexualization of our children at school!

Get active!

The early sexualization of our children shall be forced on us in Switzerland, despite Europe-wide protests! It has to be stopped. Please assist us in the initiative "Yes for the protection against early sexualization in the pre- and primary school", whether you have children who attend school or not. It has to do with the future for all of us which is about to be destroyed. You can order signature cards under tel. no. CH 061 702 01 00 or at www.schutzinitiative.ch. (Attention: in Switzerland it is allowed only from an age of 18 years to sign the initiative.)

The dictatorship of sex education

ef. A fourth grade German girl, who had previously been praised by her teachers because of her remarkable positive behavior, got into severe conflicts, because she did not want to attend sexual education lessons. While her female class teacher showed some sympathy, she had to suffer insults by her school principal and was then dragged back into the classroom by force with the help of another teacher. Her classmates, who witnessed and heard everything, were shocked. As the girl kept on resisting, she was finally dragged into the staff room, where she had to sit out the sex education lessons. Her parents attempt to talk to the school staff failed due to the schools refusal to respect the position of the child and her parents in the first place. The hour the girl spent in the staff room together with another similar hour of absence were counted as missed hours by her educational authorities. It then happened that the machinery of the authorities' wheel was set into motion: - penalty notice - refusal to pay the fine by the parents - accusation in court - visitation by the bailiff - refusal of payment - refusal to plead guilty by writing to the hands of the court - reopening and converting the case into an appeal - the case finally gets to the high court of the county, where the parents are no longer allowed to defend themselves personally but are obliged to engage an expensive lawyer. Presently there is yet a last request of payment from the higher regional court pending. If this fine is not paid some enforcement will be exerted. From other cases that have become public it is known that this may lead to imprisonment.

juh. "Interesting, readable, refreshing, lightly and delectably written", is the way the "Center of Competence for Sexual Pedagogy and School" of the Educational College of Central Switzerland denotes two sexual education books written by the German sexologists Gunter Schmidt and Erwin J. Haerberle. They also awarded these books the highest overall evaluation of quality. The FACT that these authors publicly admit to paedophile perceptions does not seem to bother the expertise center at all. For instance: Haerberle explained 1978 in an interview with the American porn magazine "Hustler" that sexual intercourse with children is quite normal, and the sexologist Schmidt refers to paedophile offenders as being a persecuted minority. According to Schmidt these legal regulations should be abolished. What may be the underlying intentions when the center of competence recommends this literature in spite of all the facts? Could it be possible that they are molded from exactly the same material? It is good turn that the days of the Center of Competence finally came to an end, because of the above statements and many other terrifying agendas that they were promoting.

Center for sex education shut down !

The widespread resistance has been well worth it: The "Center of Competence for Sexual Pedagogy and School" at the University of Education in Lucerne, Switzerland was closed by the end of June 2013. Multiple factors played into the decision. A Swiss newspaper reported: "The government didn't want to spend any more money on it as the center had recommended school books that crossed the line between educational material and pornography"<sup>1</sup>. Furthermore, the BAG<sup>2</sup> press office explains that the cantons (states), and not the federal government, are responsible for the educational content of the departments of education (This sudden insight seems rather curious, given the fact that these circumstances had been the same even before the center was first established...). The cantons, however, aren't willing to provide the necessary funds. Congratulations are due to all parties, organizations and most of all to the many parents for all of their signatures on the petitions, for joining the protests, for the numerous letters to the editors and for all other supporting activities in ending the work of this so called center of competence. Let us observe and make the public aware of the ways by which the sexual education center's misguided goals are continued and advanced in various ways elsewhere.

Closing Point •

The 100th ape:

For a scientific study sweet potatoes were put in the sand near a river. After a while an ape learned, that these are more delicious after being washed in the river before eating. Soon more and more apes followed his example and with the 100th ape (a fictitious number) all of them were doing this. The amazing thing was that this learning transferred a short time later to other ape colonies in far away regions, who never had contact with the "firstlings". Result: we can create an awareness by a persuasive conveying of the S&G contents, through our "being" but so that even people who were not at all interested in investigating and disclosing hidden facts, develop a perception of the truth and become fighters for justice. Every one of us can be the one who causes this crucial breakthrough.
