*More and more, also our beautiful country Switzerland makes the ugly headlines. Even our Army system was a provocation, because every soldier has his gun right under his pillow; then our bank system was talked about. We seem to be the only ones to encourage tax evasion. With the recent "no" to the free movement of persons the ugly words now start to turn to strategic sanctions. It is interesting however, were the EU sets the first sanction-lever: in the Swiss movie business! It shall no longer take part in the international opinion making. So Panorama Film is honored by nice company. In fact, our movies are the first to be placed under house arrest... even though we Saseks all serve in the army without weapons, faithfully pay our taxes and on top of that have been healing social cripples for more than 30 years for free! Whoever knows and follows the leitmotif in this all, will not be surprised. Through movie and main media business all nihilistic* conditions are set up which the new world order - i.e. the one-world government, one-world currency etc.- needs. Whoever does not go with this "one-world sect" and does not willingly subject to it, is ugly in their eyes. However, this V&C shows again how ugly all these puppeteers of the new world order are. In our eyes everybody who stands up against this globalization sect is beautiful. So Switzerland again won some more beauty back - also you: become beautiful by spreading the V&C!*

What features Roman Polanski?

mh. Roman Polanski's latest movie "Venus in Furs" was celebrated at its world premiere on the 25th May 2013 in Cannes, as a humorous and brilliantly played masterpiece. The movie is based on a novella by Leopold von Sacher-Masoch, the author who gave masochism* its name. As dominant main actress, Polanski recruited his wife Emmanuelle Seigner, who is also the mother of his two children, and presents the sadomasochism scene with leather corset, dog-collar and whip. Further well-known movies by Roman Polanski are the horror film "Rosemary's Baby" and the Holocaust drama "The Pianist" which was awarded the golden palm of Cannes and two Oscars. Who is this moviemaker who is glorified so much by the media and at the film festivals, and moves sadomasochism into

Godfrey Bloom*:

„The state is an institution of theft“

“Mr. President, I am minded to quote the great American philosopher Murray Rothbard here. The state is an institution of theft. Tax is just about a system of politicians and bureaucrats who steal money from their citizens to squander in the most disgraceful manner. This place is no exception.

Fascinatingly, and I really don't know how you manage to keep a straight face when you are talking about tax evasion. The whole commission and the commission bureaucracy avoid their taxes. You don't pay taxes like citizens pay taxes. You have all sorts of special deals: tax rates, high tax thresholds, non-contributing pension schemes. You are the biggest tax avoiders in Europe. And here you sit pontificating, well the message is getting home to the people of the European Union. You are going to find that euro-sceptics are coming back in June, in ever greater numbers. And I can tell you worse, as the people get your number, it won't be long before they storm this chamber and hang you. And they'll be right!“

the spotlights so openly? The Jew Roman Polanski (really: Raymond Thierry Liebling) was born in Paris in 1933. In 1968 he moved to the USA, where he was sued before court in 1977 because of abuse of 13 year-old Samantha Geimer. In order to escape long imprisonment he withdrew to France. He was arrested because of this while entering Switzerland in 2009, where Eveline Widmer-Schlumpf, minister of justice at that time, released him after ten months of house detention instead of delivering him to the United States. What is so outstanding about Roman Polanski that even justice grants him amnesty? It is widely known that dissolute sex comes out of a dissolute spirit and leads to dissolute deeds in more and more areas of life.

The „Sweetie“ Case

skp./ham. The Dutch chapter of the human rights organization „Terre des Hommes“ generated a virtual child named „Sweetie“ on a computer in conjunction with their campaign „Stop Webcam-Child Porn-Tourism“. This fictitious ten year old girl with a Philippine look was offered up on the internet for paid online sex. In the course of ten weeks, more than 20.000 users contacted them who were ready to pay Sweetie for sexual acts in front of a “webcam”*. “Terre des Hommes” could positively identify a total of 1.000 adults in 71 countries, among them 44

Germans, whose names were given to the German law enforcement. Since it is obvious that those who desired contact were pedophiles, you may suspect that they would also own further child pornographic material. A suspicion that the police do not follow: The criminal prosecution is supposedly complicated, because “Sweetie” is not a real person.

But the desire of the suspects is very real, since they have signaled their willingness to pay for sexual acts from “Sweetie” in front of a webcam. It’s terrifying that such a large number of people are living their obvious pedophile tendencies on the internet. Yet the real scandal is that they can only be criminally prosecuted when a child victim presses charges – which is something that almost never happens. In the “Edathy” case, it was easy for prosecutors to conduct investigations at mere suspicion.

The “Edathy” Case

ap/ham. Sebastian Edathy, a member of the federal German parliament and head of the committee investigating the NSU murders*, earned much appreciation from all political parties because he pilloried publicly the failure of the secret services. During the high point of the investigation it became known that the Office for the Protection of the Constitution may have been involved with the murders. Following this the president of this office Heinz Fromm resigned from his position. Now Sebastian Edathy is suspected of being in possession of child-pornography. After having resigned from his parliamentary seat at the beginning of February 2014, due to “health issues”, the public prosecutor began the investigation. But before an objective inquiry could be made by the prosecuting authorities, several high-ranking politicians purposely disclosed confidential information to the media. When his house was searched, based only on the suspicion, the press was already present...this smells like a planned, malicious agitation in order that Edathy’s public credibility should be destroyed. So far there have been no investigative actions against other active politicians like Daniel Cohn-Bendit and Volker Beck, although they both manifested themselves in their own books as remarkably positive towards paedophilia. It seems that here once again a double standard is being used. Was the conscientious, thorough work of a courageous man, too dangerous for certain power circles? As a matter of fact, a comprehensive clarification of the NSU murders is still missing, until today and seems obviously not desired. So the “Edathy case” has proved itself to be a classic example for how the media, politicians and judiciary powers work hand in hand to reach a prejudiced condemnation of someone without convicting evidence. This is the real scandal – it is unworthy of a state under the rule of law.

*The so-called “NSU murders” are attributed to the organization “Nationalsozialistischer Untergrund” (national socialist underground). Between 2000 and 2006 nine business-people with foreign backgrounds were killed.
